About Vritti Associates

Our company Vritti Associates (Mumbai, India) came into existence in 2007 under the Vritti Group of companies established in 1994. It is into exports of products like Copper Wound transformers, Toroidal transformers, Audio transformers, E I transformers, Wire Harnesses (cable kits), Box Build Assemblies, Magnetics, Switch mode power supplies, etc. which are used in Medical instruments, and Equipment, Aerospace Industries, Defense Industries Audio Industries, etc. Our manufacturing facility is in Bangalore, India where we have a joint venture with one of the prime manufacturers of electronic components. Our principals are ISO 9001:2008, ISO 13485:2003, and AS 9100 Rev D certified and have CE, RoHS, and Reach-compliant products along with UL files that we maintain from time to time. We have gained an excellent reputation in a very short period for our quality products and complete customer satisfaction in addition to competitive prices, timely delivery, customize products, and dedicated service that we have been providing to our customers. We also maintain Buffer stock for the clients in order to support them when they have any uncertain demand. We can also help our clients in their early phases of project design and development of new products. We like to work with clients closely to understand their needs so that we can help them to be competitive in the global market.
