About Iadept Marketing

We are an innovative, established, customer oriented and professional company in the field of condition monitoring of machinery & equipment. We specialize in offering testing instruments and equipment that can efficiently monitor the health of machinery for increasing productivity. Our offerings include supply of testing equipment and instruments, services of analyzing/detecting machine defects as well as training our clients in related technologies. We have also started offering products & services related to Environmental/Human Vibration & Noise, Physiology and Ergonomics. Our motto is customer satisfaction through Composite Solutions to maintain the machinery health monitoring process in efficient manner. Our company started operations in 2002 & have come a long way. Today we have solutions in all streams of condition monitoring techniques covering a spectrum of products & services, as well as in state of art environmental / human engineering streams. Our operations are conducted from central office in New Delhi from the close vicinity of International Airport. To support these operations and in line with our policy of being available near our patterns, we have our associates in various industrial cities of India. Apart from our head office we also have 3 Branch Level offices at Visakhapatnam, Chennai and Kolkata. We are suppliers of vibration meters, balancers, analyzers and data collectors, oil analyzers & debris classifiers, sound level meters and analyzers, diesel engine analyzers and other related products like monitoring software etc. All these products are excellent in monitoring and testing the condition of machines and systems and help in maintaining the good working condition of machinery thereby increasing productivity. The new group of Environmental / Human Technology Instrument is receiving great interests from Institutes, Universities, R&D organizations and laboratories. Ever since inception in 2002, we have been growing steadily. Today our clients look towards us for all their condition monitoring and environmental / human technology requirements. We believe in offering total customer satisfaction through quality, JIT supplies, efficient training, competitive prices and excellent after sales service. iAdept Marketing has its subsidiary Vibanalyst Condition Monitoring Technologies having a dedicated unit for development, customization and post release support of Condition Monitoring Software.
